Nixon Defends Selection Of Agnew as Running Mate

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said Sunday that his running mate "is not one who has great experience in foreign affairs" but has the poise and intellect needed to be president of the United States.

Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, answered publicly for the first time the criticisms that have been expressed by some Negro groups in the past week over his selection of Maryland Gov. Spiro T.

Agnew as the GOP vice presidential candidate.

"If anything happened to the president, I would feel extremely confident that he could take over and be president of the United States," Nixon told a news conference as he wound up a week of strategy talks at the Mission Bay resort on the shore of the Pacific Ocean.

After a visit to church Nixon prepared to fly to Springfield, Ill., the first stop on a three-day round of appearances and private conferences that will take him to Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York City.

All through the week, Nixon aides and Agnew himself have been replying to criticism of the vice presidential choice, prompted by some of Agnew's statements during racial violence in Baltimore.

This time, Nixon took up the defense of his running mate and praised him warmly.

Asked about Agnew's experience, which is primarily in domestic affairs, Nixon replied: "No man who is selected for the position of vice president of the United States is going to be an expert in every area. Gov. Agnew is not one who has had great experience in foreign affairs. However, what he has is a balance of judgment. He has the fine intellect to learn very fast."

And, added Nixon, he "will be the best brief man in foreign affairs of any vice presidential candidate in recent times."

Nixon also replied strongly to criticism heard at his vacation headquarters by some of the Negroes he has called in to talk about urban problems and economic improvement of Negro slums.

UAR Plane Crashes into Sea; 41 Persons Aboard Are Killed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A United Arab Republic airplane crashed into the sea between Cyprus and Egypt Sunday and the airline said all 41 persons aboard were killed.

The Russian-built plane carried 34 passengers and a crew of seven, the airline said in Cairo. It said the passenger list included six Egyptians, 12 Iraqis, four Syrians, nine Palestinians, one Jordanian, one Sudanese and one Algerian.

British Royal Air Force planes spotted wreckage from the plane and floating bodies in an area 120 miles southeast of the RAF station at Akrotiri, southern Cyprus.

A spokesman at the RAF's rescue coordination center in Cyprus said pilots flying over the spot reported seeing about 12 floating bodies but no sign of any survivors.

One RAF pilot said the wreckage was spread over an area about a mile long and 400 yards wide.

All air and sea traffic in the vicinity have been asked to look out for survivors.

Sources at Nicosia Airport said the Egyptian aircraft, a Soviet-built Antonov 24, was first reported missing at about noon.

Widespread Rioting Reported In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — An apparently well planned series of explosions injured several people Sunday night and touched off widespread rioting by angered Israeli youths.

Swift action by armed riot police quieted the crowds after an hour of chaos unlike anything the city had seen in times of peace for 20 years.

Nine persons were injured in the explosions, two seriously. An Arab was beaten up so badly by a mob he lay in grave condition in a hospital, sources said. There was no official police statement.

The sources said about 30 Arabs and 20 Israelis—mostly young people—were arrested. The turbulent evening began when two hand grenades with time fuses were found in the New City, one outside a movie theater and the other in a public toilet. Police took them to an empty field.

Soon afterwards came the explosions. One grenade went off at the intersection of King George and Allenby roads injuring eight persons, two seriously. Another exploded near the railroad station and one person was injured.

Another burst in the city bus station, shattering windows of a coach.

At the same time, the grenades in the field went off. Young Israelis bent on reprisals attacked Arabs and smashed their cars.

Troops, Tanks Battle Enemy In Blazing Streets

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops and U.S. tanks battled enemy invaders in the blazing streets of Tay Ninh Sunday. The enemy then apparently withdrew from the city under cover of darkness early Monday.

South Vietnamese troops backed by an American armored column swept through the city Monday but encountered no resistance.

U.S. officers said the 500 North Vietnamese regulars had slipped out without seizing most of their important objectives in the key provincial capital of 200,000.

U.S. B52 bombers ranged close to the Cambodian border Monday to bomb suspected positions of other enemy forces who launched waves of coordinated attacks Sunday against several U.S. and Vietnamese bases in the two provinces that guard the northwest approaches to Saigon.

Unofficial figures indicated more than 250 enemy soldiers were killed in scattered fighting in and around Tay Ninh with U.S. casualties nearing 100—mostly wounded. Allied losses were expected to be higher among the South Vietnamese mercenaries and militiamen defending Tay Ninh but reports were very sketchy.

Enemy gunners fired about 100 mortar rounds into the city Sunday night. Another 20 hit near Cu Chi, a village four miles south. Casualties and damage were not reported.

Although the battle for Tay Ninh was rated as quite serious by the allied command, military sources believed it was too soon to say whether it signaled the opening of the third major enemy offensive of the year that the Communists have said would again carry to the streets of Saigon.

Allied intelligence believes the entire enemy 9th Division is north and west of Tay Ninh with the 5th Division further to the north in the vast War Zone C, a major enemy base area.

Captured enemy documents repeatedly have said Tay Ninh would be seized and used as a stepping stone for a renewed thrust at Saigon.

Details of the fighting Sunday were limited. A U.S. Command spokesman said even the enemy's strength was being guessed at. Official figures said two enemy battalions were suspected to be inside the city. Some reports from the scene said there might be as few as two companies.

It was the fourth day of hard fighting that shattered a two-month lull in the ground war. Some sources said it could be the prelude to a long-anticipated third offensive, but U.S. spokesmen said it was "too early to make an accurate judgment."

The fighting began early Sunday when elements of two North Vietnamese divisions and Viet Cong guerrillas attacked 10 allied bases in Tay Ninh and Binh Long provinces under cover of rocket and mortar barrages.

MP's Use Tear Gas To Quell Rioting in Brig

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — New rioting broke out Sunday afternoon at the U.S. Marine Corps brig and a force of military police fired about 20 tear gas grenades into demonstrating American prisoners to quell the revolt.

Earlier, Lt. Col. Joseph Gambardella, commander of the brig just outside Da Nang, said order had been restored after earlier rioting. But at 2 p.m., when it was decided to move 70 parolees and trustees out of the battered, barbed-wire-enclosed compound, resentment began building up among the 228 other prisoners held there.

A Marine spokesman said about 40 agitators created a disturbance while the parolees and trustees were packing their personal gear to move to different quarters. It was said the move was being made to relieve overcrowding in the brig.

At 3:30 p.m., Gambardella gave the prisoners 30 minutes to stop their agitation and then sent in a 120-man force of military police. A spokesman said they fired about 20 tear gas canisters and at 4:30 p.m., the situation was "well in hand."

He said there were no injuries among the inmates, American servicemen—Marines, soldiers and sailors confined for disciplinary action or awaiting trial. None of the military police or guards was reported hurt.

The spokesman said the military policemen, who stormed into the compound behind a fog of tear gas, isolated a band of about 40 inmates believed to have created the new problem. The other prisoners returned to their quarters.

The spokesman said there was "light damage" to the buildings in the latest outburst.

Former President Eisenhower Remains 'Critically Ill'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower remains "critically ill" and an electrical pacemaker has been ineffective in controlling the spasms in his scarred heart, doctors at Walter Reed Army General Hospital said Sunday.

In a medical bulletin issued shortly after 9:30 p.m. EDT, doctors said Eisenhower suffered two additional heart spasms since a 4 p.m. bulletin was issued.

The general's vital signs, doctors said, have remained essentially stable. He was reported resting comfortably.

The bulletin said: "General Eisenhower remains critically ill. Electrical pacing by means of a transvenous catheter has been ineffective in suppressing the episodes of ventricular irregularity. Two more, each quickly reverting to normal, have occurred since the afternoon bulletin.

"Vital signs, in the interval between these episodes, have remained essentially stable. The general is not in pain, is resting comfortably, and sleeps intermittently."

Members of the immediate family remain in close attendance and have seen the general at intervals.

Army doctors threaded an electrical pacemaker directly into Eisenhower's heart to try to suppress the recurrent heart muscle spasms threatening the old warrior's life since his seventh heart attack suffered Friday.

Doctors said the 77-year-old five-star general was alert much of Sunday and retained "his keen sense of humor." They did not say how this was displayed.

But they continued to express concern over the periodic spasms of the muscles in the heart's lower chamber, known as ventricular fibrillation, which twice caused Eisenhower to lose consciousness.

The spasms were blamed on what doctors said was the "serious underlying disease of the heart," with which Eisenhower is afflicted.

Eisenhower suffered four separate episodes of ventricular irregularity since 10 p.m. Saturday, the doctors added.

A private cardiologist not connected with the case told The Associated Press that "electrical pacing" could mean only one thing medically—that doctors have inserted an electrical pacemaker into Eisenhower's heart to set a normal rhythm.

Landslide Sweeps Sightseers to Death

GIFU, Japan (AP) — A landslide swept two busloads of sightseers—mostly women and children—off a mountain highway near here Sunday and police feared most of the 103 persons aboard perished in a rain-swollen river.

Twenty-three bodies were recovered from the Hida River, many of them several miles downstream. Authorities pressed a massive search for 77 missing passengers and bus crewmen. Three persons, including the driver of one bus, were known to have survived.

The two buses were part of a fleet of 15 carrying passengers to watch the sunrise from the peak of central Japan's 9,927-foot Mt. Norikura.

Chamber Says 'Don't Pay' For Unordered Merchandise

The Warren County Chamber of Commerce said today the practice of sending unordered merchandise to prospective buyers continues to flourish and advised consumers that they are not obliged to return or pay for goods they didn't order and don't want.

Barry R. Epstein, executive Vice President of the local Chamber, said the rights and obligations of consumers with regard to unordered merchandise are spelled out in a recent policy statement issued by the Federal Trade Commission.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber is affiliated, the FTC, in its statement, said the recipient of unordered merchandise has no obligation to return or pay for it, unless he uses the merchandise or wishes to purchase it.

The FTC statement, which assumes that there is no written agreement in effect between the recipient of unordered goods and the sender calling for return or payment of the merchandise, confirms the National Bureau's long-standing position on the matter.

NBBB has consistently condemned the practice, pointing out that recipients of unordered goods are not obliged to use their homes as storage depots. Unless the merchandise is called for by the shipper within a reasonable time, NBBB has maintained, the recipient may dispose of it without penalty.

According to NBBB, some states have passed laws relieving addressees of any obligation to pay for or keep unordered merchandise. A recently-enacted New York State law provides that the recipient of unsolicited merchandise may regard it as a gift.

The FTC, in its statement, noted that the practice of shipping unordered merchandise is widespread and growing and advised businessmen using such sales methods of the risks involved.

The commission said it has issued complaints and cease and desist orders in two such cases and added that it intends to examine all complaints brought to its attention which involve the shipment of unordered merchandise, applying this principle:

"In the absence of a prior agreement between the parties, any shipment of unordered merchandise, and any communication designed to obtain payment for, or return of, such merchandise, must be accompanied by a clear and conspicuous disclosure that the merchandise has been sent to the recipient unsolicited, that the recipient is under no obligation either to return the merchandise to the sender or to preserve it intact, and that the recipient is required to pay for the merchandise only if he uses it or decides to purchase it."

FFA Display Wins Ribbon At Fair

The Northern Area Future Farmers of America were well prepared to go to the Youngsville-Warren County Fair. Their education display committee, headed by Pete Block, designed a booth to show both desirable and harmful strains of county grasses and legumes. Their display won a blue ribbon.

Some of the FFA students entered cattle in both the Junior and Open Class Cattle Shows held Thursday. Mark Lawson was the most spectacular winner with several awards for his Guernsey cattle, including the grand champion female prize in Open Class competition. Robin Lord won a blue ribbon in the Junior Cattle Show for his Holstein bull calf. Gary Geurley won several blue and red ribbons for his four entries. And Pete Block won first, second, third and fourth place ribbons for his steers.

Besides gaining experience in fitting and showing an animal, the FFA boys learned valuable points on what to look for in evaluating cattle.

Spirited Activity Marks End Of Youngsville-Warren County Fair

By TONY ROBERTI

The spirited activity at the Fairground on Saturday, the last day of this summer's Youngsville-Warren County Fair, was astonishing even for a fair. The day started with a County 4-H Horse Show, galloped along with the Tractor Pulling Contest in the afternoon, and finally came to a halt with the end of the Game Show on Horseback about 12:30 a.m. on Sunday.

A major incentive in the 4-H Horse Show was the opportunity (won by the first three winners of each category) to go to the District 4-H Show to be held in September.

The show was run by Mrs. Joan Wurst, Erie, who served as ring master, and Dale Linebaugh, Spring Creek, who served as ring master, and Dale as announcer. The judge of the show was Elmo Kelly, Erie. In the Junior Grooming and Showmanship, Penny Putman, Spring Creek, won first place; Dale Brown, Russell, won second; Diana Rapp, Warren, won third; and Renne Putman, Spring Creek won fourth.

In the Senior Grooming and Showmanship event, DeDe Hamilton, Sugar Grove, took first; Peggy Rapp, Warren, second; Ken Hanson, Russell, third; and Bonnie Sickler, Spring Creek, fourth.

There were only two winners in Pony Driving. Pat Sweeney, Sugar Grove, won first, and Terry Davis, Sugar Grove, took second.

In the Junior Stock seat equitation, Nancy Rupczyk, Sugar Grove, won first; Renne Putman, Spring Creek, second; Jed Linebaugh, Spring Creek, third; and Bradley Sickler, Spring Creek, fourth.

NO LUCK

Republican presidential candidate Richard Nixon had no more success than this little boy's parents in soothing the youngster's crying. Probably more scared by the crowd greeting Nixon at Knotts Berry Farm in Buena Park, Calif., the little boy cried on. Nixon and his party, taking a night off, also visited Disneyland.

tractor that pulled the most men (that is, went furthest down the aisle of men) was declared the winner. Only one pull was permitted except in case of a tie.

Thirty five tractors took part in the skill-demanding contest. There were three places awarded in each of the first five classes. A sixth class was created when a 10,500 lbs. tractor owned by Gary Toyer was entered.

In Class A (under 4,000) the prizes were won by Ed Ellis, Chandlers Valley, first; John Woodin, Bear Lake, second; and Roger Woodin, Bear Lake, third.

In Class B (4,000 to 5,500 lbs.), awards went to Ron Ruland, first; George DeVore, second; and Russell Messinger, third.

News Around The World

LONDON (AP) — It may be just as well that Princess Anne, 18, has two brothers ahead of her in line for the British throne and its burden of international affairs. She got a D in history and an E in geography this year in final exams of her last term at Benenden School. Prince Charles, heir to the throne, was an honor student in history.

TAIPEI (AP) — The Formos provincial assembly has called for all-out war against 50 million rats that cause an estimated $2.5 million in crop damage yearly in Nationalist China.

BOMBAY (AP) — Indian authorities have charged nine persons with procuring young Indian girls to be sold into slavery. Police say Arabs paid the procuring ring $2,000-$2,500 per girl, married the girls and took them to Arab ports where they divorced them and sold them to the highest bidder.

TEHRAN (AP) — Iran's 2,500th anniversary as a monarchy doesn't come until October 12, 1971 but the royal court is already getting ready. A decree called for eight days of celebrations. Officials said some ceremonies would be held at the ancient ruins of Persepolis in southern Iran.

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary is having a tourist boom this year. The government announced that more than 2.4 million visitors have arrived in the first seven months of 1967, including a record one million in July.

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has 1,018,000 telephones—about one for every 520 persons—latest statistics show. The government plans to double the number of phones in the next five years.

Gun Registration

Will gun registration as a means of crime control work?

This is the question almost every citizen of the nation has been asking himself for the past five or six years as the registration of all guns has been advocated by a number of our national leaders including the present administration.

Well, at last, the question has been answered.

In New York City, where a gun registration act was passed last November and the deadline for the registration of every rifle and shotgun in the city was set for August 13, 1968, the results have been far from encouraging.

Mayor Lindsay, appearing on a televised program to appeal for greater compliance with the law, said 10 per cent of the estimated number of guns in the city had been registered. But a news reporter on another program stated the exact number of guns that had been registered and it amounted to less than five per cent of the four million estimate made public at the time the law was being considered.

Furthermore, not a one of the 200,000 gunners who did register their guns at $3 each could be found to have a criminal record (except for a few aged petty infractions of the law), was a dope addict, a mental incompetent, or a juvenile—the element of the population at which the law was directed.

New York officials, it is reported, are ready to admit that gun registration has failed. The money from the registration fees is not enough to pay the costs of registering the guns and provide for any enforcement program. The law has done nothing more than harass the law-abiding citizen without even touching the real culprit.

It is highly unlikely a national gun registration law would bring about any better end results.

MASON DENISON

Both Parties Have Their Woes

HARRISBURG — There are those who seem convinced, following the antics of the Keystone State's Republican hierarchy at the Miami nominating convention of week before last, that Republicans are the only ones with intra-party woes in Pennsylvania. This isn't quite the case at all.

While admittedly Republicans do have their woes, notwithstanding their overworked for public consumption only branding of dental work in a confused show of jolly good unity, their Democratic colleagues on the other side of the dental chair also face disruptive forces and similar division within their own ranks.

It isn't quite as strong or smothered with the brilliance of a Pennsylvania Republican's achievement during their ignominious backing of the wrong horse in the Florida presidential fight.

Like the Keystone State Republican delegation, Pennsylvania's Democratic delegation to the upcoming conclave in the windy city is anything but united behind a single candidate.

One of the prime differences however between the two parallel courses assumed by the political greats of the Keystone State lies in the fact that Democrats at the moment in Pennsylvania are not looked upon from a prime interest or strategy viewpoint — being in the awkward and non-dominant posture of has-beens, the minority party, etc.

For Pennsylvania Democrats in this year of presidential fling-dings there is no magnificent stance to be assumed with a strategy-aden Governor at the helm guiding them to glory and victory via the decisive convention role.

The simple reason of course is that they have no Governor in their convention delegation stable.

But again, inasmuch as the Pennsylvania delegation will be the third largest, their candidate support will be much sought-after, much wooed and much bled — but basically within the inner workings of the Democratic convention itself, as opposed to the public eye focused on Pennsylvania's GOP delegation to the Miami doings.

Keystone State Democrats, because they do not have the public platform enjoyed by in-office Republicans, have largely been lost in the backwash, their chirps of dissent drowned in the public GOP froth. Because they have not had this spotlight, the conviction seems to have grown that the donkey riders are all roaring to convention battle in the same jeep.

Actually, Pennsylvania Democrats are split on the candidate issue as divisively as were their Republican counterparts. Whether their heads can all be knocked together by the time their national demonstration gets under way next week remains to be seen.

In any event, it is unlikely they will gain the national eye with the prominence (and unquestioned distinction) achieved by Pennsylvania's GOP delegate bloc — unless they try to bodily run off with the convention podium or some such spectacular venture. This is doubtful.

Another facet certainly of note is that they simply do not enjoy the presence of any great outstanding single leadership, such as the Republican bloc enjoyed at their convention, courtesy of His Excellency, to lift them to outstanding prominence.

The unity displayed by Keystone State Democrats is illustrated in the "almost candidacy" of State Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno in opposition to heirarchy-endorsed Joseph Sill Clark's bid for another term in his Pennsylvania U. S. Senate seat.

On the other hand, should the Democratic legislation find itself duplicating Republicans in riding the wrong candidate horse (which is doubtful) and remain split to the bitter end (which is doubtful) it could repeat the somewhat amazing assessment offered by Governor Shafer at his last press conference when he allowed:

"I think what happened in Miami insofar as the Pennsylvania delegation is concerned has made our party stronger in Pennsylvania and in effect, I think our party will be stronger nationally because of the actions taken by our Pennsylvania delegation and by other leaders throughout the country."

walked off with it. I would like to have heard some of the speeches, but the commentators had read the advance copies and decided to interpret for America what was now being enunciated from the lectern.

Gerald Ford, the permanent chairman, was still speaking when Walter Cronkite asked Eric Sevareid what he thought of it. The erudite Mr. Sevareid dismembered Ford and his "facts" in a dozen complex sentences. Old Uncle Ev Dirksen brought the party platform to life, and the broadcasters cut in with tolerant grins to concede that, whatever else you may think of Senator Dirksen, he sure puts on a show.

The network directors — men behind the scenes who order cameramen to cover certain shots — made a mockery of the proceedings by putting the speaker on the sound track, but placing the cameras on delegates who were reading newspapers, yawning, or sleeping. On the floor, additional reporters came in with delectable predictions from unknown delegates who often opened their mouths beyond their competence.

We who waited patiently to hear Republican leaders had to listen to interpreters interpret the words denied to our ears. They, who had never run for office, could tell us what each candidate had to do to win, and what the GOP will require for victory in November. Television also gave us an erroneous estimate of the California primary vote the night Robert Kennedy was shot.

Nor do I excuse my fellow newspaper reporters, who have become addicted to telling us what is going to happen, rather than reporting the news. We are in the age of the Think Piece, and this too amounts to a put-down. It has become unforgivable for a reporter to write that a politician is personable, sincere, respected, or worse, that he is patriotic.

These are the men Richard Nixon excoriated in a Los Angeles hotel corridor the night he lost to Kennedy; the men who caused at least two Presidents to cancel subscriptions to certain newspapers. It does not involve freedom of the press, because nothing in the world is freer than the American newspaper.

It's the snide slant that hurts. For example, I live in the Greater Miami area, on the fringes, and you will travel a long distance to find a city as physically attractive. The beach requires no endorsement from me; try to find a hotel room winter or summer. My newspaper brothers called Miami Beach "America's grossest national product." The New York Times referred to Miami Beach as "8.2 miles long, a mile wide, and very square."

Time Magazine said, "The crocodiles have given way to a rather more rapacious species — sharks capable of picking an unwary tourist's wallet to the bone in no time." A reader would hunt for days looking for a reference to the accommodations granted to the press, the expensive security measures engineered by the Miami Beach police department, the cordial welcome of the Miami Herald to the alien craftsmen, the refurbishing of the convention hall for the convenience of television and newspaper reporters. To denigrate, to deride and defile is the new brand of journalism. This is the first time I've tried it...

RUSSELL BAKER

That Law & Order Con Job

WASHINGTON — Basil Baxter, one of those public-spirited millionaires, has been looking for years for a way to do the Republic some service. "I think I've finally found it," he said the other day while nailing together a new tax shelter alongside his swimming pool.

Baker

this year every politician in America is in favor of law and order. They're in a terrible predicament."

"How so?"

"They haven't got anybody to run against. Not a single candidate has come out against law and order. If I fill the gap, everybody will have someone to run against and everybody will get elected. In this way I assure that Government in the United States will continue to exist."

"What laws are you going to be against, Basil?"

"Only laws that I sincerely opposed before becoming a candidate. I will not abandon conviction for political purposes."

"Specifically, what?"

"I am against laws that forbid me to make left turns in the rush hour and laws that forbid me to double-park outside my office when it's raining."

"Practically every motorist in America is against those laws, and that's a lot of motorists, probably enough motorists to get you elected."

"Heaven forbid!" cried Basil. "I'd make an awful President."

"In that case you'd better come out against some less unpopular laws."

"I am against practically every tax law ever written."

"Dangerous, Basil. Very dangerous. You'll force the real candidates to come out in favor of tax laws. That could wipe out 80 per cent of them."

"I'm against the present draft law."

"With a stand like that, you'd be in danger of carrying the under-thirty vote and destroying Eugene McCarthy."

"Well, how about being against all laws providing for school desegregation?"

"You'd carry half the South and wreck George Wallace's campaign."

"Now look here, I'm against the legal right of every man to be free of arbitrary arrest and to be represented by a lawyer, no matter how poor and ignorant he is. Certainly nobody would vote for me after hearing that."

"Practically everybody, Basil, except for a few bleeding hearts and pseudo-intellectuals."

Basil's crest was beginning to look fallen.

"I've got it!" he cried. "I'm against the constitutional right of free assembly by people of odd coloration or costume when the purpose is to petition for the redress of grievances that don't interest me."

"It won't do, Basil. Most of the Republicans and most of the Democrats will be campaigning covertly against that particular law. If you came out openly for it, you might stampede the electorate and destroy the two-party system."

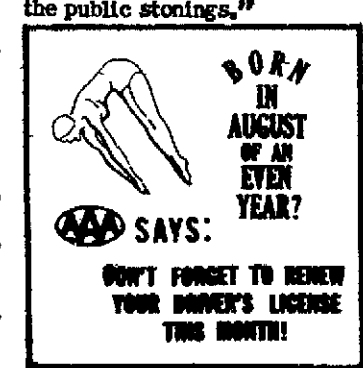

"All right," said Basil. "In that case I'll have to go all the way. I'm not only against law. I'm also against the Attorney General and I'm against the courts, and that includes the Supreme Court."

"No good, Basil. With that platform you'd be undercutting Nixon and splitting the Wallace vote." He was becoming depressed. "Of course, you could always come out for rioting, mugging, gunplay and armed robbery."

"No," he sighed. "If I did I'd just carry the American television and movie audience." The poor guy. There he was, yearning for some way to help the real politicians clobber him, and it was dawning on him that there was only one way to do it.

"If you really want to give the politicians somebody to run against, Basil, there's only one way. They need just one candidate with the gall to defend the law to the last ditch."

"I couldn't do it," he said. "I'd feel like a hypocrite. And what's worse, I couldn't stand the public stonings."

DREW PEARSON

Frets About Free Donuts

WASHINGTON — Rep. John Rooney, sometimes called the Brooklyn Tyrant, is worried over doughnuts being used by the Small Business Administration. This was the subject of a closed-door grilling which he gave to Robert C. Moot of the SBA regarding a $1,000 fund Moot had requested for "light refreshment" for officials of SCORE and the SBA advisory council.

SCORE members are retired business executives who give free technical and management advice to small business firms, and Rooney wanted to know what was meant by "light refreshments."

Moot replied: "I was thinking of doughnuts and that sort of thing."

ROONEY: "Do you mean to tell us that if you got this $1,000 you wouldn't buy any Scotch whisky?"

MOOT: "We do not plan to use this for buying any Scotch liquor."

ROONEY: "The question wasn't what you plan to do. The question was — if you got the $1,000, would you buy any Scotch with it?"

MOOT: "The answer is flatly no."

ROONEY: "Why shouldn't the people who borrow the money do the entertaining? Why should the taxpayers do the entertaining?"

MOOT: "They (SCORE members) are people helping us by assisting small business. They provide their own time. They are civic leaders."

REP. FRANK BOW, ROHIO: "What are you going to do for SCORE people who are on a diet like I am? My doctor says I can't eat a doughnut, you probably have some fat people in this SCORE outfit."

MOOT: "I really don't think the money is going to provide too much in terms of doughnuts, Mr. Congressman."

BOW: "This is a temptation to those of us on a diet. I would probably eat a doughnut and get on the scales the next morning and find my doctor's advice was not being very well taken. So take care of the dieters, too, will you?"

MOOT: "Yes, sir. I will get diet doughnuts if you give me the money."

Whether Uncle Sam should put people in the liquor business with loans from the Small Business Administration has touched off a backstage debate.

In the past the Small Business Administration has followed a strict policy of no loans to gambling establishments, racetracks, newspapers, radio-TV stations, book publishers, banks, hospitals and concerns selling alcoholic beverages. The latter were included on the forbidden list because it was held that bars, beer gardens and liquor dealers did not contribute to the welfare of the community.

However, the new Small Business Administrator, Howard J. Samuels, has dropped the ban and has extended loans to liquor dealers. He claims that the no-loan policy was discriminatory against small businessmen, especially Negroes, who are trying to take over from white liquor dealers in the Negro ghettos. Samuels, an able administrator and former Under Secretary of Commerce, has just received a hot letter from Rep. Joe Evin, D-Tenn., chairman of the House Small Business Committee, taking him to task.

"All of your predecessors have found valid reasons for continuing the policy against liquor loans," says Evin. "It is suggested that in handling matters of this import, which call for the exercise of discretion conferred upon you by Congress, it would be appreciated if some consultation is held with members of this committee."

What this means is that if liquor loans are not cut off, there will be speeches when Congress returns next month and probably a ban on Uncle Sam financing the liquor business.

A strange thing has happened to an important section of the 1966 auto safety Act aimed at making cars and highways safer. The provision for an auto safety research and test facility has disappeared.

Those who drive the highways and suffer from auto crashes costing over $12 billion a year don't know that this important part of the Auto Safety Act has been quietly ditched. Somewhere along the way the Budget Bureau ruled it out, either because it cost too much or because Detroit doesn't want it — possibly both.

The motor moguls in Detroit have claimed this testing facility would put the government into the auto business. Some members of the Department of Transportation have been shaken by this argument. Also Congress has decreed a crackdown on spending. As a result, this part of the Auto Safety Act is being sidetracked.

Meanwhile, auto crashes kill 53,000 people annually and injure 4 1/2 million. Meanwhile also, the government operates bureaus responsible for drug safety, bus and rail safety, radiation safety, and health safety, but apparently is ditching the testing facility on auto safety.

Hard-hitting young Rep. James J. Howard, D-N.J., is among those urging a strong tax reform plank in the 1968 Democratic platform. In a recent statement Howard declared that any man who aspires to the White House — whether Democrat or Republican — "must represent all of the people, not just the oilmen and those who escape paying their fair share of taxes through loopholes."

He pointed out that, under the notorious "depletion allowance," 20 of the top U. S. oil companies have been making a total net profit of almost $5 billion a year, yet pay an average of only 8.5 per cent in taxes. Mighty Standard Oil of New Jersey, for example, is in the 6.3 percent bracket.

Howard also wants to tighten loopholes that enable individuals to flimflam the government.

"In 1965," he said, "there were 35 American so-called taxpayers, with incomes exceeding $500,000 a year, who paid no income tax at all — including five with incomes of $5 million or more."

JAMES RESTON

The Myth About the Candidates

The problem of decontaminating this election is going to be hard. The atmosphere is already thick with political pollution. Both parties seem to be operating on the assumption that the boos hold the decisive balance of power, and while this has often been true in the past, this year's supply of myths seems unusually poisonous.

Hubert Humphrey, we are told, is nothing but a ventriloquist for Lyndon Johnson. Governor Agnew of Maryland is being portrayed as a racist. Senator McCarthy, according to his enemies, is an indolent poet who couldn't organize a telephone booth, and Richard Nixon is the obedient servant of that Neanderthal statesman from South Carolina, Strom Thurmond.

All this is tactically convenient: every election is a dance of doubt, and all candidates exploit the worries and fears of the people, but these vicious caricatures will stand up only until you begin to think about them.

Humphrey has been inching away from the President on Vietnam ever since he declared for the Presidency, and actually got to the point in New York this weekend where he was claiming that his Vietnam policy was almost identical to the late Senator Robert Kennedy's. This is nonsense, too, but it is not the kind of nonsense that would endanger him to President Johnson.

Humphrey has not said flatly that he favors stopping the bombing now, but he has said he favors stopping it after North Vietnam shows "restraint and reasonable response," whatever that means. Nevertheless, he has gone far enough to provoke more than mutterings of protest from Johnson, and nobody should be surprised if he agrees to have his delegates at the Chicago convention vote for a bombing pause. This may be one reason why the President is now having doubts about whether he will even show up at the convention.

Governor Agnew of Maryland may not quite meet even Mr. Nixon's test that a Vice President should be the best man available to succeed to the Presidency, but his record in defense of civil rights is clear enough, and while he also defends civil order, this does not make him a racist. In short, the truth about his limitations is bad enough without adding lies.

The McCarthy myths are even sillier. For a man who is charged with lacking fire or organizing ability, he has come a long way. He has transformed the politics of this election. He has generated enough heat to run Lyndon Johnson out of the kitchen. He has mobilized the youth of this country more effectively than any politician since Woodrow Wilson, and he has organized and financed a major campaign which will affect the Democratic party and its policies for years, even if he loses. For an "indolent poet" this is pretty muscular stuff.

In the Nixon-Thurmond affair, it is obvious that somebody is being used, and not by accident either. Whatever else he is, Nixon is not the sort of man you'd hand your hat to by mistake. If he was "used" by Strom Thurmond, it is a fair bet he wanted to be used for his own purposes.

Nixon may have misjudged the temper of the nation. He may be wrong in putting order before compassion in the slums. He may have overestimated George Wallace's strength and thus miscalculated his need to get between one fourth and one third of Wallace's supporters in order to win the election. But this was clearly a deliberate calculation by Nixon. It was odd of him, and of anybody else for that matter, to choose Thurmond as the symbol of order, for Thurmond could give even "law and order" a bad name, but Nixon is no patsy for anybody, except maybe for his own weakness for planning and calculating things too much.

This, incidentally, is another of the popular myths of this campaign: that Nixon would follow the policies his most conservative backers think he would follow. Of all the Republican Presidential candidates of the last two generations, he is probably more of a planner by nature than any of them, with the possible exception of Tom Dewey.

He undoubtedly will emphasize "order" in the cities, for that is clearly his best issue, but it would be unfair and misleading to say he had no compassion for the poor. He thinks he can tame the ghettos and then reconstruct them, and he may very well make reconciliation with the Negro community impossible in the process, but even the leading Democrats are beginning to admit that Nixon has devised a campaign strategy that will be hard to beat.

On the whole, the candidates in this election are complicated men confronted by problems bigger than themselves, leading coalitions of divergent and often contradictory forces but the myths about them only make the outlook even gloomier than it is.

Our Spending Patterns

You, the American consumer, spend three times as much for beer, wine and hard liquor each year as you spend to send your children to private colleges. You spend more annually for jewelry and watches than you spend for all books and magazines, or all dental care, or for all private elementary and high school education.

You spend nearly four times as much for cigarettes, cigars and other tobacco products as you spend each year for health insurance. And you spend far more each year on personal care — hairdos, haircuts, cosmetics, bath equipment, etc. — than on all religious and welfare activities.

We are now crossing the historic half-trillion mark in annual consumer spending, one more symbol of our fantastic affluence. In all of 1967 we spent $492 billion — and our spending is now surely over the $500 billion or half-trillion line.

How are our spending habits changing?

We are ever more actively seeking creature comforts and indulging ourselves in the non-necessities of life. Since 1957, the rise in our spending for most of the traditional necessities, food, clothing, transportation, household operation has been significantly slower than the rise in our overall spending for all goods and services.

We are at the same time devoting more and more of our spending dollars to services, ranging from education to foreign travel, medical care and funerals. Since 1957, our spending for all services has nearly doubled.

We are "trading up" our cultural as well as our materialistic standards. The 175 per cent 10-year jump in the amounts we spend for private education surely reflects our rising educational ambitions for our children, as well as the big surge in World War II babies now moving through their teens and early 20's. And the 136 per cent jump in our spending for foreign travel surely underlines our yearning to learn how others live and inform ourselves on the cultures of other nations.

And we are investing in our future financial security as never before. The 125 per cent rise over the past decade in our spending for "personal business," a catchall including brokerage fees, bank service charges, life insurance handling costs, lawyers' fees, etc., testifies to our unprecedented levels of stock market activity, bank savings and purchase of life insurance.

To show you just how much we are now spending on what, and how fast our spending is rising, here is a chart drawn up by the Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics tracing the amounts (in $ billions) and the percentage rises from 1957 to 1967. Note where the biggest increases have taken place.

Team Recommends Altering Human Relations Group

HARRISBURG (AP) — A team of management experts has recommended broadening the base and altering the function of the State Human Relations Commission.

In a report submitted to Gov. Shafer last week, the consultants suggest decentralizing the rights office by establishing local human relations commissions throughout the state. This would relieve the office of many routine chores and free it to deal with major problems.

Another proposal contained in the report is to transfer the commission's investigatory unit to the Justice Department in order to bring investigation closer to enforcement. It is important, the report noted, to have the legal expertise of the State Attorney General's office readily available in rights cases.

The study of the 13-year-old commission was undertaken two months ago after the General Assembly approved the transfer of the commission from the Labor and Industry Department to the Governor's Office.

The proposals came in the midst of reports from administration aides that minority groups had lost confidence in the commission primarily on the ground that it had not been sufficiently aggressive in obtaining compliance with the law.

Currently, the commission is seeking occupants for its two top posts — those of executive director and commission chairman.

The commission has been without an executive director since July 16, when Elliott Shirk stepped down from his $16,978 post.

Although the current commission chairman, Harry Boyer, was to have left when his term expired during the last half of the Scranton Administration, he has continued to serve because no successor has been named.

Boyer is president of the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO. His continued service on the commission is considered vital in this election year because of his influence within the ranks of organized labor.

The lower staff structure of the commission also came under scrutiny in the management report. An overhaul of the staff, the report said, would lead to a more efficient use of personnel and the smoother development of program concepts.

Priority should be given to the commission's Community Services Division, the specialists said, which should function as the principal arbiter of the state's human relations laws.

This division acts as a liaison between the state government and municipalities.

Armored Riot Truck Drives Off Crowd In St. Petersburg

ST PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — An armored riot truck, spewing tear gas, drove off a milling crowd of 500 to 700 Negroes, many throwing rocks at passing cars, in St. Petersburg's second night of racial violence early Sunday.

Fires, some set by arsonists, flared during the hot night. The crackle of sporadic gunfire could be heard in the city's troubled Southside.

Thirty-seven persons were arrested, many of them jailed under high bond. There were no serious injuries, authorities said.

Compared with the previous night, police said, damage was lighter. No looting was reported.

Weather Satellites May Forecast Two Weeks Ahead

VIENNA (AP) — An American space official predicted Sunday that within 10 years weather satellites will deliver enough data to forecast conditions anywhere in the world two weeks in advance.

Addressing the United Nations Conference on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space, William Nordberg of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said these long-range forecasts will depend on satellite sensors that will

Shafer Congratulates National Guard For Riot Help

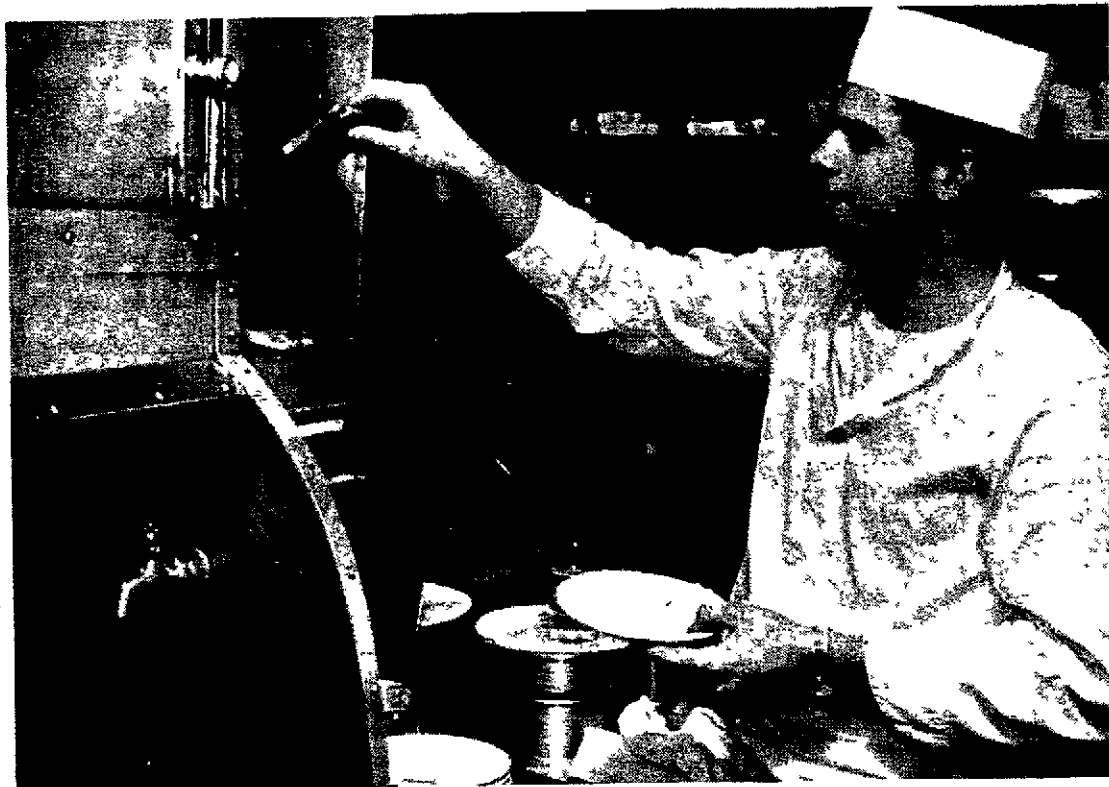

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Shafer congratulated the Pennsylvania National Guard Saturday for its "peace-keeping role" during the Pittsburgh racial disturbances last April.

The governor addressed the guard at the annual Governor's Day Review of the 4,500 guardsmen stationed here. The number is approximately one fourth of the state's National Guard complement.

Shafer also assured the men that a new state law would prevent any guardsmen from being dismissed by his employer for being called to active duty.

The governor reviewed the troops from his vantage point in a military jeep. Two other jeeps followed, bearing State Adjutant General Richard Snyder and Brig. Gen. Nolas Kafkalas.

Several hundred friends and relatives of the guardsmen witnessed the ceremony.

Scuffle Develops Over Pope's Birth Control Ban

LONDON (AP) — Roman Catholics scuffled outside Westminster Cathedral Sunday when groups for and against the Pope's birth control ban came face to face.

Crowds pouring out of Sunday High Mass were confronted by posters urging: "Show compassion. Good priests are needed."

A hundred demonstrators from a suburban church, whose priest has been suspended on the birth control issue, were recruiting support for a planned protest march across London.

On the cathedral steps, a counter-demonstration quickly developed.

A banner was unfurled: "We support the Pope. Catholics, think before you act." An elderly woman shouted: "Everybody in support of the Pope over here!"

A man who criticized her was told: "You're a bad Catholic." Within moments, shouts of "hypocrite" and "traitor" were being traded.

The argument grew heated. Two men started scuffling and had to be separated by friends. Another man grabbed a banner from one of the supporters of the suspended priest and tore it up.

Father Paul Weir, 31, was not present. He has taken no part in efforts to get him reinstated.

Police headed off further trouble by ordering the protest marchers to get moving.

They tramped a mile across London to the capital's other Roman Catholic Cathedral, in Southwark, crossing the River Thames and passing ancient Lambeth Palace, the Archbishop of Canterbury's home, along the way.

It was one of the most orderly demonstrations ever.

Whole families trudged along, some women pushing their children in prams. Young couples walked hand-in-hand. There were few in the Sunday streets to see them pass.

At Southwark they laid down their banners and went into the Cathedral to pray.

Southwark is the seat of Archbishop Cyril Cowderoy, 63, reputed to be one of the toughest among the 25 bishops of England and Wales in his attitude to contraception. His archdiocese covers south London and the whole county of Kent.

United Steel Workers Face Protest by Black Members

CHICAGO (AP) — The United Steel Workers Union, fresh from a bargaining triumph that produced the richest steel contract in history, Sunday faced a Negro revolt that could blur the strong civil rights stance of its leaders.

A protest by black members is expected at the union's week-long 14th Constitutional Convention which gets under way Monday. And it is aimed, specifically, at forcing appointment of a Negro to the policy-making executive board, and also getting more blacks into top staff posts.

It could come in the form of picketing or in some sort of dramatic demonstration — like a walkout or even a seizure of all floor microphones, possibly when Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey addresses the 3,500 delegates Monday afternoon in Chicago's big International Amphitheatre. There have been all kinds of rumors.

L.W. Abel, international president, acknowledged that "a lot of things can happen." But he sharply rejected charges that the steel workers discriminate against any member because of race, color or creed.

"There is no discrimination in our union," Abel told a news conference. "Very definitely not."

But Abel said some Negro members, in recent meetings with top officers, had requested appointment of a black to the 33-member executive board, all of whom are now elected.

There are nearly 1.2 million steel workers in the United States and Canada with Negro membership estimated between 15 and 25 per cent — "We don't keep these statistics," said Abel.

Of the delegates to the Chicago convention about 350 are Negro.

"Every member has a right to aspire to office," said Abel. "There are no bars to office. Hundreds and hundreds of our union officers are Negroes. They were elected by the democratic process.

"We stand for equal rights and equal opportunities and can't switch to a policy of special privilege for any group, minority or not," Abel said.

National politics will play a dominant role at the convention, with formal endorsement of Humphrey's Democratic presidential candidacy expected shortly after his appearance.

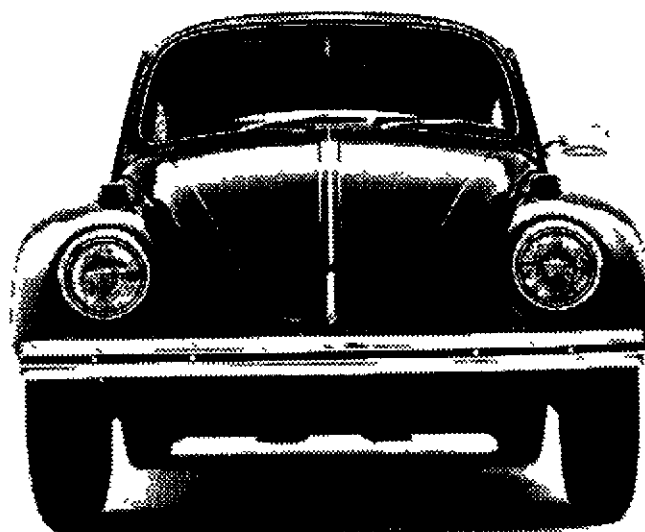

Sniper Kills One, Hurts Another

NEW YORK (AP) — A passenger was shot to death and a second man wounded early Sunday when a sniper fired a rifle at a moving Long Island Rail Road train, police said. They charged a 16-year-old with homicide several hours later.

They quoted the boy as saying he fired at three LIRR trains "just for the whim of it."

The boy, John Whitmore, a vocational high school student who lives in the Long Island city section of Queens, was charged with the slaying at 4 p.m. Sunday. The shooting came 12 hours after the first reported gunshots fired at LIRR trains in Queens.

The dead man was identified as Vincent Maher, 31, of New York City, father of three.

What's the catch? There isn't any. $1,699 is the suggested retail price at the port of entry for the VW sedan. The price includes Federal excise tax and import duty. It also includes the built-in heater/defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, outside rear view mirror, and seat belts front and back. Not to mention the padded dash and front seat headrests. It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model. What else do you have to pay? The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax. There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The matching leatherette upholstery. For $30.00 extra. (Nearly everybody gets it because it eliminates the need for slipcovers.) Well, that's it. Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

"HOLIDAYS ON PARADE" is another bit of entertainment now being offered at Kennywood Park in Pittsburgh. Its exact address is 4800 Kennywood Blvd., West Mifflin, Penna., but the brochure refers to it as being in Pittsburgh, which you might like to consider as something different to do between now and August 25th. Kennywood Park as part of the entertainment is featuring nightly The Festival of Music until that date — the music is offered by seven different high school bands (70 in all) from throughout the Tri-State Area. The holidays, depicted in colorful floats are New Year's Day, Lincoln's Birthday, Valentine's Day, Easter, Income Tax Day (that should be interesting), Thanksgiving, and Christmas. The park's 71st season officially closes on Labor Day. Just another bit of information that came to my desk, thought you might like to know about it. Come to think of it, Warren is a jewel of a lovely community, ideally situated for comparatively short motor trips to the city South of us, a couple to the North of us, and one to the West of us. But when all is said and done, though there's the novelty of change, excitement, places to go and things to do in any of the cities, I find it good, after awhile, to be home-ward bound for Warren with its winding river, lush green hills (or snow capped, depending on the season), parks and lawns, inviting looking homes. In the cities most often it is only the rich and privileged who can live in such surroundings, but here it is for the pleasure and pride of all of us!

THEN IN OCTOBER IN THE CITY TO THE SOUTH OF US there is to be a three-week exhibit of "Gems and Minerals of the World" from the 7th to the 26th in Kaufmann's Department Store. The event will be co-hosted by Astro Minerals Ltd. of New York. Teams of craftsmen are now engaged in transforming the Kaufmann Store auditorium into a replica of the famous A.M.L. 34th street showroom in Manhattan which now houses the largest private collection of precious and semi-precious stones anywhere in the country. The event will be a first for any department store in the United States, and those in charge are preparing for visitors numbering 25,000 per day, according to Joseph E. Moore, a vice president of Kaufmann's.

NO QUESTION ABOUT IT LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — When Albert Rodgers received a rabbit as a pet, his father asked the 5-year-old boy what he planned to name it. "Louis," said the youngster. "But how do you know it's a boy?" asked the father. "Well, he's got whiskers, hasn't he," young Rodgers shot back.

Jean Anne Benze, K. Jeffrey Schlichter Pledge Nuptial Vows

MRS. K. JEFFREY SCHLICHTER
(Photo by Stokes)

Jean Anne Benze became the bride of K. Jeffrey Schlichter on August 17, in the First Lutheran Church. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p. m. before 150 guests. The Rev. Theodore Althof of New Kensington, Pa., cousin of the bride's father, and grandson of the Rev. A. L. Benze, an early minister of the First Lutheran Church in Warren, conducted the ceremony. The Rev. Frederick B. Haer, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, also officiated at the nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Benze of 4 Willoughby ave. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Schlichter of 114 Garfield st., Waynesboro, Pa.

Vases and pedestal baskets of gladioli and carnations in shades of pink, white and green decorated the altar. The organ arrangement was in the same color scheme. Joseph P. Bowlers, former piano instructor of the groom from Waynesboro, Pa., was the organist; the trumpeter was David Mahan of Warren.

Escorted by her father, the bride appeared in a fragile ivory organza over tulle taffeta with a skimmer cage silhouette. A narrow yoke of re-embroidered Alencon lace formed the scalloped bateau neckline and brief sleeves, and a pleated panel edged with the delicate scalloped lace formed the graceful brush train. The three tier veil of English illusion was caught to a small open pillbox of matching ivory Alencon lace. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white, pale and dark pink roses and baby's breath, accented with ivory and pink streamers.

Miss Francine Frits was maid of honor in a floor length skimmer gown of Nile green chiffon over petal pink taffeta. The matching pink and green braid formed her crown with a butterfly veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and light pink roses and baby's breath with pink and green streamers. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Darcy Brown and Mrs. Heidi (Link) McAfee. Their colonial bouquets were of green star flowers and light pink roses with pink streamers. Flower girl was Mistress Yasmine Havewala of Newark, Del., in a frock of similar style. She wore a Dior bow of pink and green embroidered braid, and carried a pink basket of pink and white roses and baby's breath.

The bridegroom's brother, William Schlichter of Waynesboro, was best man. Ushering were Jay W. Benze, brother of the bride from Vandenberg Air Force Base in Calif., and Reeves Power, of State College, Pa., and Texas.

Mrs. Benze wore an aqua peau de sole dress with beaded neckline and sleeves, and matching hat and accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of light and dark pink roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Schlichter, chose a soft pink dress of silk desire, with matching hat and accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

A reception was held at the Woman's Club for 135 guests. The walls were decorated with sunbursts of huckleberry greens, and the pink and white theme was continued in other floral arrangements. The four tier wedding cake was decorated with pink roses on the tiers, and topped with a nosegay of pink and white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Benze were master and mistress of ceremonies. The guest book was managed by Miss Wendy Laurich of Boston, Mass.

For a honeymoon trip to Jamaica in the West Indies, Mrs. Schlichter wore a yellow linen dress-jacket ensemble with white accessories and a white rose corsage. After August 25, Mr. and Mrs. Schlichter will be home at Apt. 27, 1012 Pugh st., State College, Pa.

A graduate of Waynesboro High School, the bridegroom was graduated in 1966 from Allegheny College, Meadville, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology. He is presently in his third year of graduate studies at the Pennsylvania State University as a candidate for the doctorate degree in Clinical Psychology. The bride graduated from Warren Area High School in 1964 and from Wagner College, Staten Island, N. Y., in 1968 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology.

Prenuptial affairs were given by Mrs. George Frits and Miss Francine Frits; Mrs. Hans Link and Mrs. Heidi (Link) McAfee. The bridegroom's parents gave the rehearsal dinner at the Penn Laurel. The bridesmaids luncheon was held at the Three Flags Inn.

Guests attended from Waynesboro, Chambersburg, State College, York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New Kensington and Youngsville, Pa.; Lakewood, Brooklyn, Rochester and Germantown, N. Y.; Ashtabula and Cleveland, Ohio; Basking Ridge and Scotch Plains, N. J.; Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.; Newark, Del.; Wyandotte, Mich.; Worcester and Boston, Mass.; and Toronto, Ont.

Patricia Lynn Ellis And Raymond Heelan Jr. Are Wed

The First Presbyterian Church in Conneaut Lake, Penna., was the setting on Saturday afternoon, August 17, at 2:30, for the wedding of Patricia Lynn Ellis and Raymond Vincent Heelan Jr. The couple's vows were exchanged before an altar ornamented with two vases of white gladioli and yellow pompons. The Rev. Gene Boyd, pastor, read the double ring rites.

Wedding music was provided at the organ by Mrs. Schyler

Ross, organist, and Harold Oltver, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellis of Monnie avenue, Conneaut Lake, Penna., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond V. Heelan of 319 Chestnut street, Moorestown, N. J.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a modified a-line gown of Ottoman in an empire silhouette. The untrimmed dress had a squared neckline, short sleeves and Watteau train. A Dior bow secured the train length tiers of illusion veiling. She carried an elongated cascade of white gardenias and stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Miss Kathy Fieger of New Fane, N. Y., was in lemon chiffon over taffeta with a silk rose headpiece of matching color securing a brief veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white pompon daisies. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids; Mrs. Arthur Mielnicki, sister of the bride, of Pittsburgh, Miss Sheila Clark and Mrs. Richard Fuller, both of Erie. Mistress Lisa Kramer of Conneaut Lake, the flower girl, in a frock of the same color and similar style, carried a basket of white and yellow petals.

MRS. RAYMOND VINCENT HEELAN JR. (Lowther, Conneaut Lake)

The best man was Jack Nobbs of Jamestown, N. Y., and the ushers were Arthur Mielnicki, brother-in-law of the bride, of Pittsburgh; Charles Foster of Warren; Dwight Drum of Buffalo, N. Y. The ringbearer was Master John T. Curry, nephew of the bride, of Conneaut Lake.

The mother of the bride wore mint green crepe with matching lace jacket and accessories. The mother of the groom chose a natural brocade linen dress with emerald accessories. Both had corsages of yellow carnations.

The reception was held in the church social hall. Aides were Mrs. James Johnson, Mrs. Norbert Miller, Mrs. James Myers Jr.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Heelan flew to New York City and the Virgin Islands for their honeymoon.

MRS. STEPHEN DENNIS MORGACH (Ron Benson, Jamestown)

Christine Ann Heeden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Heeden of 23 Mattison street, Frewsburg, N. Y., became the bride of Stephen Dennis Morgach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Morgach of RD No. 1, Youngsville, on Saturday, August 17, at high noon in Our Lady of Victory Roman Catholic Church in Frewsburg. The Rev. Father James P. Hayes, pastor, officiated at the double ring wedding service.

Wedding music was provided by organist Susan Dunning with Mrs. John Gatgen the vocal soloist. Altar decorations included arrangements of white and yellow gladioli and mums.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride approached the altar in a long white satin coat dress, styled with shaped rolled collar, long sleeves and satin frogs buttoning the dress from the neckline to the hem of the skirt. For emphasis, the back of the gown had a rolled pleat and a tie belt. The gown was made by the mother of the bride. Her English illusion bridal veil of cathedral length depended from a Camelot headpiece of silk organza appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace sprinkled with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of Phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Dennis Carr, matron of honor from Ashville, N. Y., wore mint green with daisy trim and for her headpiece a semi-circlet of daisies. She carried a cascade of yellow daisies. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Morgach, sister of the groom, and Miss Susan McCullough. Both were dressed identically to the honor attendant, Mistress Elizabeth Heeden, sister of the bride, wore a lemon satin frock with daisy chain trim, a headpiece semi-circlet of daisies and carried a nosegay of daisies.

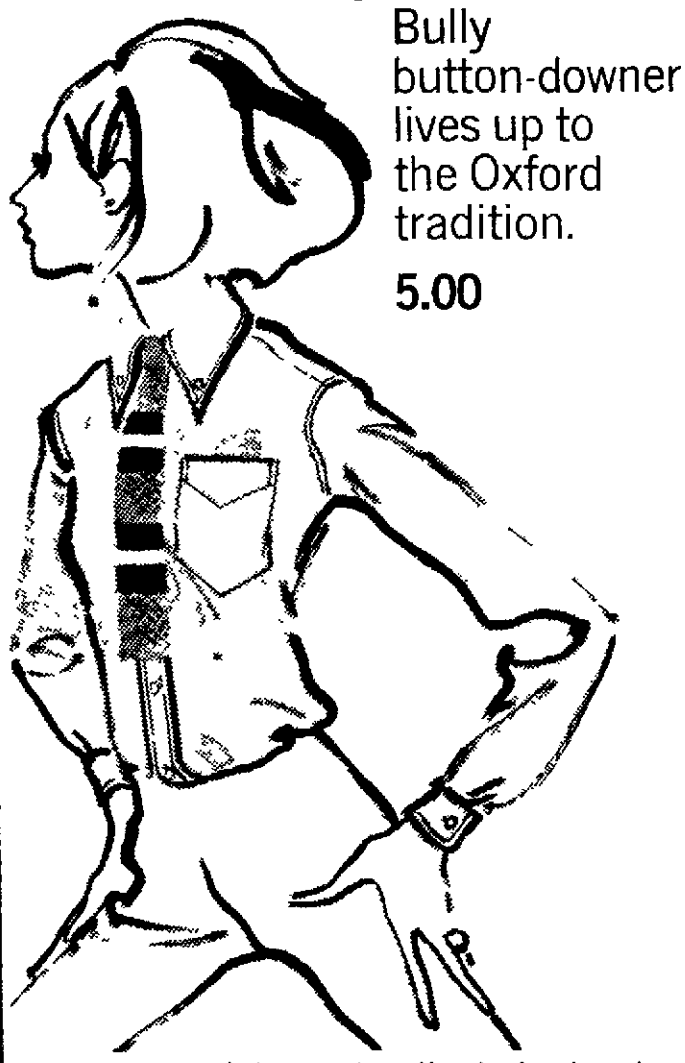

The groomsmen were Michael Morgach, of Corry, brother of the groom, John Heeden of Frewsburg, brother of the bride, and Dean Hendrickson of Youngsville, Thomas Kuzminski of Youngsville and Donald Dove, a cousin of the groom from Frewsburg.

The mother of the bride wore a shaded brown crepe dress with bone color accessories and a tangerine carnation corsage. The mother of the groom chose a turquoise crepe dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. John Heeden and Mrs. Fern Flickinger, and the grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Walter Brown, all were remembered with corsages of white daisies.

The reception followed in the parish hall at Our Lady of Victory with approximately two hundred guests attending. Decorations featured the attendants bouquets which were used as centerpieces, and white streamers and wedding bells. The master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rinell, uncle and aunt of the groom; aides were Miss Patricia Zemoardo, Mrs. Edward Michalski, Mrs. Paul Osborn, Mrs. Reynold Johnson.

For a honeymoon in Canada, the bride traveled in a two-tone brown linen dress with matching accessories. Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: First let's get one thing straight. I am not a teen-ager. I'm 41 years of age and I hold a responsible position in a bank.

My husband died five years ago and I have been going with a man who owns a fertilizer business. (I'm fed up on jokes about his business and I have heard them all, so please don't come up with any.)

Last night was Horace's sledge dinner. He belongs to the Moose. I got dressed up in a silk outfit and had my hair set and my nails manicured. I even bought a broadcaded shoulder stole for the affair.

Horace came for me a little late but I didn't say anything. I almost died when I saw he was driving his dump truck. I'm not sure but I think it had some fertilizer in it. All he said was, "I sold the Buick and the new car won't be here till next month."

I am not a snob but I don't think a dump truck is proper transportation for a middle-aged couple. Should I refuse to ride in it in the future?—EMBARRASSED

DEAR EM: A dump truck is all right for a trip to the beach, maybe, but surely not to a banquet—with you in a broadcaded stole, yet. Tell Horace you'd prefer to take the bus until the new car comes in, if it's all the same to him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 21 years old and the mother of a beautiful little daughter. The father of my child refused to marry me. Although I was hurt at first I have come to the conclusion it was all for the best. He was a bum.

I am very proud of Rochelle and my family and friends know she has no legal father. They treat her kindly and nothing is ever said about it.

Recently I took a new job and moved to another section of town. When I was shopping in the market Saturday a new neighbor asked, "What does your husband do?" I replied, "The baby's father did not marry me. She is an out-of-wedlock child."

The woman's mouth dropped open and she yelled at the top of her lungs, "HOW DID IT HAPPEN?" She knows very well how it happened. Why would she ask such a dumb question?

Please tell me what to say to cruel people who ask questions that are none of their business?—ALONE BUT PROUD moon. Upon their return, after August 26, they will reside on Lakeview avenue, Conneaut Lake, Penna.

The bride graduated from Conneaut Lake High School, 1965, and is presently a Senior at Edinboro State College, where she is majoring in Elementary Education. Her student teaching will be done in Kerrtown, Penna., this September. The groom, a Moorestown High School, Moorestown, N. J., graduate, is presently a Senior also at Edinboro State College, with a major in Secondary English. His student teaching will be in Conneaut Lake High School this September.

A personal shower was given for the bride-elect by Miss

DEAR A. BUT P.: "What does your husband do?" might be a tasteless question from a casual acquaintance but it is not cruel. YOU invited the cruel question ("How did it happen?") when you volunteered the information that the baby's father did not marry you. In the future if you are asked about the baby's father, simply say, "He is a plumber—or whatever he is—but we are living apart."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read with interest the quote in today's column from a French philosopher who said, "There are no frigid women. Only clumsy men."

Here's another one, from a Hungarian poet: "If a woman does not get the man she wants, God help the man she gets." If you fail to see the connection, I'll point it out. Some men are clumsy because they don't get the cooperation. And the reason they don't get the cooperation is because the lady didn't get the man she wanted. Get it?—THE HUNGARIAN POET

DEAR HUNG: Are you commenting or apologizing? Thanks for the pearl, Dad.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism—Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New York ranks 30th among the states in total land area and 26th in forest land area.

Kathy Fieger and Miss Sheila Clark. The rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Heelan, parents of the groom, at the David Mead Inn, Meadville.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠ J 10 7 4 ♥ A Q J 9 2 ♦ K 9 4 ♣ 6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Your hand is the equivalent of an opening bid. Since partner has opened the bidding and jumped the bid and the hand is known to be a slam, the suggestion should be made by a raise above game to five spades.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠ 6 ♥ A Q J 7 ♦ 5 3 ♣ A K 10 9 6 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—One heart. The opportunity to show the four-card major at this low range should be selected in preference to rebidding the six-card minor.

Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠ K J 9 7 6 5 ♥ Q 6 3 ♣ A Q J 4
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Two spades. This does not contradict the principle expounded in the previous answer; a six-card major should be given distinct preference over a four-card minor. With one more club or one less spade, our answer would have been two clubs.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠ 7 4 ♥ K 10 9 6 ♦ J 10 5 ♣ K J 9 3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Our vote is in favor of a bid of three hearts. It is a close case and no severe criticism should attend a pass. Our preference is to bid because, while it is true that on a certain number of hands we might be in jeopardy at three hearts, nevertheless it is worth the risk, because of the occasional game that will be unearthed in this manner.

Q. 5—You are South, both sides vulnerable, and you hold:
 ♠ K 10 9 8 7 5 3 ♦ 6 2 ♣ A J 5 3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1 ♠ 1 ♣ Pass 2 ♠ 3 ♥ 4 ♠ Pass 5 ♥ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—We are inclined to go on to five spades, not merely because we feel there is too grave a danger that the adverse contract will be fulfilled, but because there is some chance that we may be able to make five spades. This much is certain, the loss at five spades cannot be severe but, if we err on the side of permitting the opponents to play the hand, the loss can be staggering.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠ 7 2 ♥ 5 4 ♦ A Q 9 5 ♣ A Q 9 6 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Pass. You can hardly hope for game. Partner obviously has no aspirations. He simply doesn't want to let the opponents run off with a bargain. If it were his purpose to go places, he would have acted immediately, over the opening bid of one heart, at which point it would have been a simple matter for him to have bid one spade.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠ A 10 8 5 3 2 ♥ 10 5 3 ♦ 4 ♣ A K 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—The simple rebid of two spades is recommended. This is better tactics than raising the clubs at once for, if partner should then try three no trump, you would be faced with an awkward problem as to whether to rest content or to take it out into a black suit.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠ A J 6 5 ♥ Q 10 9 6 ♦ 3 ♣ A K Q J
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1 ♦ Dble. Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 4 ♠ Pass 5 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Six spades. The key to the situation is the single diamond. If partner has six spades to the king and the ace of hearts, 12 tricks can be counted. If he has a five-card spade suit, then surely he must have both heart honors to justify a jump and a bid beyond game.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 19, 1968:

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Good intentions are not enough, and you know it. Let no one talk you out of real duties and into the hot water of time-consuming frivolity. Day has choice bonuses, but you must work for them. TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Pursue the difficult tasks with as much assurance as the easier ones. Your stick-to-itiveness and sense of proper order will be life-savers now. Artistic matters and romance continue in favor.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Mercury's position places you in a highly propitious spot for gains if you will exercise your skills and knowhow. Keep aims high and everything should go well.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—A good day for handling details ably, getting past opposition without riling it needlessly, and overcoming inhibitions that prevent smart advancement and thinking.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Especially favored now: Legal interests, business transactions, negotiations generally. Aspects stimulate your quick-wittedness.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Do not become needlessly involved in the affairs of others. And do keep things in proper focus. Neither overextend nor fear that new, "different" step that shows promise.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—One of those make-it-yourself-if-you-haven't-got-it days. This includes opportunities, tools, and getting others' cooperation. Equipment meager? Use the Libran's imagination and inventiveness.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—There are many ways to get things off the ground, started and running at the right tempo—and as many to stymie them and get you involved in red tape, having to undo. Better watch it, able friend!

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—If efforts are not as result-getting as you believe they should be, think things out carefully. There may be a simple answer, only a small change needed. A glamour touch, perhaps.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Some changes made without your consent? This happens all the time, to everyone. No excitability or recriminations will help. Only common sense and tolerance will see you through.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Wisdom, dexterity and pleasing personality belong to this Sign. Emphasize these traits now. Simplify the complicated, unravel red tape. You should do well.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Vitality, a sense of responsibility and pluck will be needed now. Situations may not work out as expected. Don't rush forward; step cautiously, knowingly.

YOU BORN TODAY have a wealth of personality; are innately lovable, kind, enthusiastic, energetic, sturdy. You can be an ideal companion, secretary; do confidential work admirably. In fact, you can keep a secret from anyone, yet drop a "bombshell" of a hint at certain times for effect. Natives of Leo are eager for success, will work untiringly toward it. The well-developed are clever, courteous, steadfast of purpose, occasionally vain, always willing to assist others. Birthdate of: Bernard Baruch, economist, financier; Orville Wright, airplane inventor; Jill St. John, cinema actress.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1968 by The Chicago Tribune
 To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PILES MAY MASK CANCER
 A READER writes: "There are some things I do not understand. My neighbor died of cancer of the bowel. According to her husband, the woman had no pain before the tumor was discovered, yet she was beyond help when the operation was performed. We were told that she had small bleeding piles but otherwise felt fine. Is this possible?"

Yes, many malignancies are discovered after they are well-advanced. On the other hand, rectal bleeding was the important clue, and this woman is dead because it was assumed the blood was coming from hemorrhoids. It is true that piles are the most common cause for loss of blood, but life is too precious to take such a gamble. Hemorrhoids can co-exist but bleeding may be coming from a tumor in the rectum or large intestine.

Blood loss is common in iron deficiency anemia, and the individual may not be aware of any rectal bleeding because the daily amount lost is too small to discolor the excretions. In time, severe anemia develops, and unless the cause is pinpointed, the individual may be doomed. Many of these people lose the chance to be cured when they procrastinate by taking tonics for fatigue or "tired blood."

Other symptoms of this type of cancer are changes in bowel function, and abdominal cramps or pain. Three out of four of these tumors are located in the rectum or lowest part of the large intestine and can be seen via a "procto" examination. The physician examines the interior with a hollow device (sigmoidoscope) about 10 inches long that has an eyepiece at one end and a light at the other. Biopsy is done when the tumor is questionable.

Diagnosis also involves a barium enema. Surgery is advised as soon as the tumor is detected. Complete recovery can be expected so long as the malignancy has not extended beyond the rectum or intestine.

TOMORROW: Our Soaring Population.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TINGLING IN ARM
 R. H. writes: Can you tell me what causes an arm to feel as if it has gone to sleep? This happens several times a day and when it does, a tingling sensation follows.

REPLY
 This sensation usually stems from pressure on the nerve anywhere from the spinal cord to the hand. Other neurological diseases such as muscular dystrophy also cause the symptom.

TOUGHENING THE PALMS
 A. T. writes: Is there any substance that can be applied to toughen the hands of the week-end golfer?

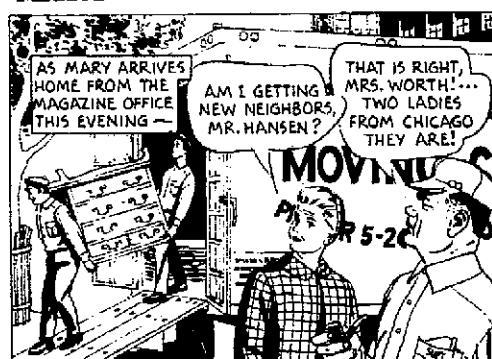

REPLY
 Golf gloves were invented for this purpose. An astringent such as rubbing alcohol may help. Why not swing the clubs in the yard or at the driving range every evening after dinner?

ANGINA EXPLAINED
 J.F. writes: What is angina pectoris? I have a special reason for asking.

REPLY
 This is chest pain due to narrowing of the coronary arteries. Circulation to the heart muscle is adequate at rest or when calm, but not on exertion or when excited or angry.

BURNING-UP CALORIES

Q. Are some foods burned up faster than others? Would such foods be better for persons on a reducing diet?
 A. The rapidity with which food is digested or metabolized (burned up) does not affect the caloric value of the diet. Regardless of the time required for the food to be metabolized, calories will be converted to fat if total caloric intake exceeds energy expenditure.

Spanish Tennis Armada Loses to Americans In Matches at Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United States sank the Spanish tennis armada Sunday with hometown hero Clark Graebner punching the final hole in a victory over Juan Gisbert that gave the Americans the crucial Davis Cup interzone series.

Graebner dusted off the 26-year-old Barcelona attorney 9-7, 6-3 and 6-1 in one hour, 42 minutes.

The triumph boosted the United States to 3-1 in the best-of-5 point system, clinching the showdown without benefit of the day's final match.

The impressive decision over Spain was the Americans' main step towards capturing the coveted Davis Cup from Australia in December.

They haven't done it since 1963. But now all tennis experts make them a solid choice if they advance against the Aussie team, decimated when their biggest star players turned professional.

First, however, the United States must wait in the interzone line-up until India plays Japan in Tokyo in September, with that winner going to Munich to face West Germany. The survivor of that one will meet the Americans, and sites being mentioned for the round are Los Angeles, Phoenix, Honolulu and San Juan.

Dick Detzel Fired, Rehired

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The Erie School Board has agreed to rehire a football coach whose dismissal led to a threatened boycott by the rest of the city's coaches.

After a three-hour meeting Saturday, School Board President Dr. John R. Wewers said Dick Detzel would officially be reinstated as coach at Strong Vincent High School at Wednesday night's regular board meeting.

He said the board also agreed to new procedures concerning the hiring of coaches and their contractual arrangements.

Detzel, who has a six-year record of 14-38-2, had charged his dismissal was "politically motivated." Paul Demyanovich, who had been named to succeed him, will resign at Wednesday night's meeting, Wewers said.

Robbie Oriole Hit Star

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Frank Robinson drove in four runs with a single, a double and his 11th homer as the Baltimore Orioles whipped Minnesota 7-1 Sunday.

John checked the Indians on six hits in the first game and Horlen completed the sweep with a six-hitter.

Cards Wallop Braves

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris and Orlando Cepeda each contributed two hits to a nine-run St. Louis uprising in the first inning and the Cardinals walloped the Atlanta Braves 10-1 Sunday.

The Cardinals pounded Atlanta rookie Ron Reed and reliever Ken Johnson in the first inning, then breezed home behind right-hander Ray Washburn.

Homers Carry Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eighth-inning home runs by Rich Allen and Bill White carried the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday.

Chris Short, the Phils' starter, struck out 11 before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Gary Wagner picked up the victory in relief.

Veale Wins for Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fred a scoreless tie in the seventh inning and Bob Bailey's bases-loaded error led in two more runs as the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed Los Angeles 5-1 Sunday behind the four-out pitching of Bob Veale.

The Pirates' seventh inning uprising broke up a duel between Veale, 10-12, and the Dodgers' Don Sutton, 5-12.

Yanks Win in 10th

OAKLAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito and Frank Fernandez drew bases-loaded walks in the 10th inning Sunday, sending the New York Yankees past the Oakland Athletics 7-5 for their third straight victory and sixth in the last seven games.

Kosco's 12th homer gave the Yanks a 5-4 edge in the sixth, but Oakland knotted it in the bottom of the inning on Dave Duncan's two-out single.

White Sox Sweep Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Southpaw Tommy John and right-hander Joe Horlen hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 4-2, 8-1 doubleheader sweep over Cleveland Sunday with the help of two-run homers by Duane Josephson and Ron Hansen.

John checked the Indians on six hits in the first game and Horlen completed the sweep with a six-hitter.

Angels Win on Error

ANAHEIM (AP) — Pitcher Phil Ortega's throwing error allowed pinch runner Tom Burgmeier to score the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and the California Angels defeated Washington 6-4 Sunday.

Don Mincher opened the Angels' eighth with a single and moved to second on Tom Satriano's third straight hit. Then Burgmeier ran for Mincher and raced home as Ortega threw wild at third on Winston Llenas' bunt.

Wales Wins Butterfly; Sets 100-Meter Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ross Wales of the Princeton Athletic Club won the 100-meter butterfly in a meet record time of 57.7 seconds as seven marks tumbled Saturday in the second day of the 1968 Eastern Swimming and Diving Championships.

Wales, who cracked his own district meet record of 58.3 set two years ago, upset National AAU champion Carl Robie, the 23-year-old record-smashing Michigan graduate and Dickinson law student.

Loose Old Julius Boros Wins Westchester Golf

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Loose, old Julius Boros exploded out of a trap and sank a 12-foot nerve-jabber on the final green Sunday for a dramatic one-shot, $50,000 victory over three rivals in the Westchester Golf Classic.

The 48-year-old Professional Golfers Association champion, oldest ever to win that title, came from three shots off the pace in the final round, shooting a 68 for 272 that shaded rookie Bob Murphy, defending champion Jack Nicklaus and clutch player Dan Sikes, tied at 273.

The 25-year-old Murphy from Nichols, Fla., who led the star-spangled field through three rounds, elected to play safe—rather than gamble—on the 518-yard finishing hole and the strategy was costly.

"He has to be kidding," Nicklaus, who had finished moments earlier, said as he watched Murphy's conservative finish on the television screen. "I know at least three guys who will applaud that one."

Murphy settled for a par 72 after consecutive, birdie-packed rounds of 64, 69 and 68 over the 6,648-yard, par 72 Westchester course.

Forty-Niners Use New Offensive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dick Nolan spent six years coaching the defense for the Dallas Cowboys, so the first thing he did when he became head coach of the San Francisco 49ers was to shake up the offense.

Nolan introduced a multiple offense in the 49ers' new training camp in Santa Barbara, Calif. He is the first to say it will be quite a while before his players are comfortable with it and the results can be judged.

"It's taken many years to develop it at Dallas," Nolan said, paying proper obeisance to his tutor, the Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry. "I'd never try to put the whole thing in one year."

He says the offense gives the team a different look every time it breaks from the huddle. The backs and receivers take up different positions each time, hope-fully to befuddle opposing de-fenses.

But if there is much that is new about the 49ers — new coach, new offense, new train-ing camp — there are plenty of things that have been around a while, including some problems.

Perhaps the primary prob-lems are two over which Nolan and the 49ers have no control. They are called Baltimore and Los Angeles.

The Colts and the Rams staged a thrilling race for the National Football League's Coastal Division title last year, the Rams winning on total points in games played between the two clubs. Each had an 11-1-2 record.

The 49ers finished 7-7 res-pectable, perhaps, but not enough for Jack Christiansen to keep his job as head coach.

Neither the Rams nor the Colts seem demonstrably weak-er this season. The 49ers, if they have any title hopes, will have to be much stronger.

A second problem Nolan faces is almost traditional by now: Who is his quarterback? John Brodie, in his 12th year with the club, is again battling with George Mira, beginning his fifth year, and Steve Spurrier, a sophomore in the league.

It is hard to tell who is ahead. None has been exactly brilliant in exhibition games.

Last year, none of the 49ers ranked among the league's indi-vidual best. Brodie was 11th among NFL passers; Ken Wil-lard and John David Crow led the team in rushing but were 17th and 18th in the league. Dick Witcher was the top pass receiv-er but 17th in the league.

In the early going, the 49ers seem to be developing a rushing attack containing upwards of half a dozen good runners.

Along with Crow and Willard, such backs as Doug Cunning-ham, a second year player from Mississippi, Dwight Lee, a rook-ie from Michigan State, and particularly Gary Lewis, who has been around five years, have been impressive.

Rookies singled out by Nolan for special mention are Lee, Johnny Fuller, defensive back from Lamar Tech; Forrest Blue, tackle from Auburn; Woody Peoples, guard from Grambling, and Kevin Hardy, the mammoth defensive line-man from Notre Dame.

For the rest, the line-up should contain mostly familiar faces: Clark Miller, Roland Lakes, Charlie Krueger and Stan Hundman on the defensive line with Matt Hazeltine, Ed Beard, Dave Wilcox, Kermit Al-exander and Jim Johnson among those backing them up, and Bruce Bosley, Howard Mudd, Elmer Collett, Leon Rohde on the offensive line with Bob Windsor and Sonny Randle at the ends.

Shafer Holds Dim View Of 'Right to Strike'

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer is reported to hold a dim view of guaranteeing public employees by law the limited right to strike in wage or other contract disputes.

Ranking Shafer aides said this was the major reservation he had to recommendations for a new public employees law submitted to him by a special gubernatorial panel.

The panel's report proposed to grant public employees a limited right to strike so long as the public's health, safety or welfare were not endangered — a condition to be determined by the courts.

Existing state law bars strikes by public employees under penalty of loss of tenure or no salary increase for three years.

"The governor has read the commission's report and is looking into the problems that could be created by fixing a limited right to strike into a law," a Shafer aide said. "He philosophically believes the country as a whole is moving away from the idea of public employees striking."

Shafer has asked a number of labor relations experts to review the report and is hopeful of having sufficient information in hand to formulate his own position within the week.

Garland 'Gala Days' Start Aug. 21

Beginning Wednesday, the Garland Volunteer Fire Department's "Garland Gala Days" will rock the normally peaceful town of Garland for four days. The vibrations will be generated by the midway, concessions and entertainment at the Garland Fairground on Route 27. The midway is being brought in by Fairland Amusements of Buffalo. The concessions come from many places, but will be more numerous this year than ever before at Garland.

The Pine Creek Sportsmen will be serving their famous fish sandwiches and the fire company's ladies' auxiliary will have a good supply of hot dogs and hamburgers, and even more than a good supply of sloppy joes and pies.

On Wednesday night, the 1968 Garland Queen will be crowned, Peggy Taydos, Norma Vanderhoff, Sandra Waters, and Dixie Myers are the hopeful candidates.

On Friday night, the WWVA star Ned Davis and his group, featuring Sue McKim, will put on a country and western concert at the fairground that is free and open to the public. Ned and Sue have been heard on the WWVA Saturday night Jamboree and will sing again at the Jamboree this Saturday, the day after performing at Garland.

At 2 p.m. on Saturday, the Annual "Gala Day" parade will march from the center of Garland to the fairground. Anyone may join the parade.

For true country fun (and no parking or admission fees), come down to the swinging "Garland Gala Day" Festival.

Thurmond Says Nixon Can Carry South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Strom Thurmond declared Sunday that Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon has a fine chance to carry most of the South despite the third-party candidacy of Alabama's George C. Wallace.

The South Carolina senator, a former Democrat who switched to the Republicans in 1964, refused to draw a parallel between his 1948 Dixiecrat candidacy and this year's Wallace bid.

"I think there are two main differences," Thurmond said. Back in 1948, I thought the people had no choice between Truman and Dewey. . . . Today they have a choice."

He added that the South, at the time of his 1948 bid, was a one-party region and his followers had nowhere else to turn. Since then, he said, the GOP has made substantial gains.

Thurmond said Wallace is strongest in Alabama and Mississippi and Nixon "will have a fine chance in the rest of the South."

Even if Wallace succeeds in throwing the election into the House of Representatives, Thurmond said, the former Alabama governor has no chance of winning.

"If the race goes to the House, I predict the Democrats will vote for their man and the Republicans for theirs," he said.

Therefore, he said, a vote for Wallace "could turn out to be a vote for Hubert Humphrey" if the Democrats maintain their majority in the House.

The senator gave his views on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press."

Napa Valley, north of San Francisco, produces some of the best wine grapes in the United States.

One method other than a limited right to strike could be binding arbitration for all public employee disputes which cannot be settled through collective bargaining, the aide said.

Legislation requiring binding arbitration in disputes involving policemen and firemen was enacted earlier this year by the General Assembly.

Shafer listed a new public employees law as one of the three priority items he regarded as unfinished business of the 1968 session.

The House and Senate Republican leadership is of the mind at the moment to extend the current legislative recess through the Nov. 5 election rather than returning in mid-September as originally planned.

Shafer said at a news conference last week he expected to confer shortly with the leadership on this.

"Before the governor meets with the leadership, he feels it's important for him to have our recommendations on a public employees law in hand for them to review," the aide said.

"We are mainly concerned that we come up with a law that will provide an answer to the total problem of public employment, recognizing the great changes it is undergoing today."

"We want to deal with the whole context of public employment, not just the matter of public school teachers alone."

Shafer has not swayed from his opposition to a House-passed bill which would grant teachers in Pittsburgh and Scranton amnesty from the penalty provisions of the existing anti-strike law.

Both blocs struck for higher wages earlier this year, but are now unable to collect them under terms of the state's existing statute. Many are threatening to resign before the new school year unless remedial action is taken.

"The governor is aware of the critical nature of the matter," the aide said. "But, again, he feels that anything we do should encompass the entire arena of public employment and not just the teachers."

Humphrey and McCarthy, the top contenders for the nomination, spoke in separate television interviews. The vice president appeared on the CBS program "Face the Nation," the senator on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Humphrey rated the two latest Democratic entries this way:

—He said the candidacy of Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox would have no impact on his own strategy. "Whatever delegate strength he is able to obtain I most likely wouldn't have had anyway," Humphrey said.

—He said he does not think the late-starting campaign of Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota will hurt his own prospects of delegate strength. "As a matter of fact, it might take a few away from Sen. McCarthy," Humphrey said.

McCarthy's argument sounded much like that advanced by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at the GOP convention.

He said the convention will turn to him if it is convinced that is the only way to win the White House. "I would run a much stronger race against Mr. Nixon than the vice president would," McCarthy said. "But whether that's enough to motivate them, I don't know."

McCarthy said Rockefeller based his case on public opinion polls, and contended his own position is stronger because he showed strength in presidential primaries.
